Data disclaimer

As diaspora definitions vary widely, we have chosen to use comparable data on emigration as a proxy. This does not include all who consider themselves diaspora and is not necessarily aligned with national definitions of diaspora. Emigration data comes from UNDESA (2024) and remittances from the World Bank (2023).

Overview of the policy and legislative framework surrounding diaspora engagement

- 2016 ● Somali Diaspora Investment Survey Report. Although Somalia has not published a diaspora policy yet, it makes extensive reference in its Somali Diaspora Investment Survey Report to the need to encourage diaspora return, especially of skilled Somali diaspora. The report also encourages diaspora investment⁴, including in priority sectors such as the sustainable energy and light industry, and it recommends that the government should work closely with the private sector to strengthen existing (and, where needed, advance new) trade and investment laws to encourage greater diaspora investment.⁵
- 2016 ● Policy on Returnees to Somalia⁶ sets out criteria for voluntary and involuntary return of Somali nationals, including a risk assessment process and safeguards to “safeguard the security gains made in Somalia while upholding the Human rights of citizens and the returnees themselves.”⁷ There is currently no a legislative framework for financial mechanisms to support those who want to return.
- 2017 ∨
2019 ● National Development Plan (NDP8) focused on poverty reduction, building resilience, and enabling peace and security. This document recognised the importance of diaspora financial and other contributions, and dedicated an entire section to diaspora (Ch. 9.6). It included the following goals: remittances link with social and economic priorities; diaspora expertise support to public sector initiatives; new business development through diaspora capital; and technical expertise and links to international/regional markets.⁸
- 2020 ∨
2024 ● National Development Plan (NDP9)⁹ aims to build on its predecessor in terms of strategy and goals, maintaining a focus on ‘poverty reduction and resilience’. This document is the result of consultations held in Somalia in 2019 (including with diaspora members) and recognises the Somalia diaspora’s financial, skills, and human development contributions to the country. In particular, it acknowledges the importance of understanding the humanitarian-development nexus and the diaspora’s role in providing assistance in times of crisis.
- 2023 ● Somali National Diaspora Policy. Somalia ratified their National Diaspora Policy in 2023. The ratification followed a series of consultations held by The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation to finalise the Policy. Somali diaspora returnees were directly involved in the consultation meetings being held in all federal states throughout 2021 by the Department of Diaspora Affairs. The Policy aims to support social and economic ties between the country and its diaspora in order to mobilise and unite diaspora networks. The policy covers Diaspora Direct Investment, communication mechanisms, education transfer and trade and tourism.
- National Human Capital Strategy (date tbc) To support the development of Somalia’s first National Human Capital Strategy, the Ministry of Planning, Investment and Economic Development has conducted studies and some preliminary findings indicate that one priority area for this strategy will include: ‘brain-gain due to large numbers of returning highly skilled Somalis from the diaspora.’¹⁰

7 Ibid. The policy is aimed predominantly at involuntary returnees, and stipulates that these may not be returned unless certain criteria are met, including that each returnee should be given $10,000 USD by the deporting state.

- National Strategy for Migration in Somalia¹¹ aims to organise Somalia's migration governance framework and facilitate policy coherence and coordinated action across the already existing policies and structures. Under its fourth strategic goal titled "Engage the diaspora in sustainable development and reduce remittance costs", this strategy seeks to complement the National Diaspora Policy by providing broader policy directives geared towards both diaspora engagement for sustainable development and reduction of remittance costs. It outlines three main objectives, including: 1) incentivising returns, even short-term ones, to transfer knowledge; 2) reducing costs of receiving remittances; and 3) leveraging diaspora investments for development.

» Trends & achievements

The Somali diaspora responded to the collapse of the government during the civil war by becoming major providers of funding and other support. Diaspora remittances, skills transfer, voluntarism, and humanitarian response have proved a lifeline to the country during the long period of civil war and insecurity, a process that continues to this day. In most cases these tend to be informal diaspora initiatives. Somalia is one of the most remittance-dependent countries worldwide¹² But remittances are deployed within households for primary needs, educational purposes and healthcare.

The Somali diaspora possesses the potential to become a great source of growth-driven investment in Somalia, as is recognised in its NDP8 and NDP9 strategies (see above). Investments, financial remittances and political engagements have been a crucial part in achieving bottom-up development outcomes.

Diaspora investments in the establishment of new industries and companies have created important employment opportunities for Somalis, which directly led to improvements in the livelihoods of many families in the country, and encouraged a number of diaspora entrepreneurs to return.¹³

There is an extensive presence of the Somali diaspora in government. As Ismail observed in 2011, 19 out of 29 heads of state or regional states, or state ministers were from the diaspora, a trend that has not changed.¹⁴ Nevertheless, to date there has been a lack of diaspora-targeting policies and programmes from the Somali government. The Department of Diaspora Affairs (DODA) is small and has limited capacity, and very few Somalis are aware of its existence.

Most diaspora contributions to Somalia remain diaspora - rather than state - led, and informal in nature. Somalia's current objective, to build up formal diaspora engagement frameworks and initiatives, promises benefits in terms of harnessing patterns of diaspora resource mobilisation, philanthropy, investments, skills and voluntarism, if it can build on existing patterns of diaspora involvement.

12 Somalia does not report remittance data to the World Bank, but based on data provided by Nisar Majid, Khalif Abdurahman, and Shamsa Hassan (2018), it would be the sixth most remittance-dependent nation worldwide according to World Bank data. Obstacles¹⁵

According to the Somali Diaspora Investment Survey 2017, there are 14 main obstacles preventing diaspora engagement in Somalia.¹⁶ These may be grouped around five main areas:

- Lack of security and political instability: are probably the biggest obstacles to diaspora engagement in Somalia at the current time.
- Fragile state: as a result of the protracted insecurity and conflict in the country, further exacerbated by regional droughts and cyclones in 2014 and 2019, the Somali government remains fragile and lacking in capacity and resources.¹⁷
- Corruption and bureaucracy: government bureaucracy is slow, and there is a lack of effective contract enforcement and weak rule of law, leading to widespread corruption.
- Financial challenges: The banking system is inadequate and there remains a lack of confidence surrounding money transfer processes. There are inadequate channels to send money to the country; costs of transfer fees are high; and there are concerns over diversion of funds (inadvertently or otherwise) for use by illicit groups.
- Lack of reliable information about investment opportunities inside Somalia, as well as barriers to accessing investment capital for investments in the country.
