Overview of the policy and legislative framework

- 1985 ● Recruitment and Job Seekers Protection Act⁴ established an intergovernmental committee called the 'Employment Development and Job-Seekers Protection Committee' which advises on overseas employment standards and stipulates the setting up of a 'Fund for Job-Seekers Working Abroad' in the Department of Employment to support returnees to Thailand, deployment abroad as well as skill testing and training prior to working abroad.
- 2019 ● Relaxation of Thai Exchange Control Act (1942)⁵ by the Ministry of Finance and the Bank of Thailand⁶ to stimulate capital outflows to support capital flow balance and lessen the pressure on the Baht. The relaxations include, among others, more freely allowing the outward remittance of foreign currency whereby most of outward remittance transactions will not require approval from the Bank of Thailand.

Trends

Thailand has not yet fully recognised the importance of offering attractive benefits, such as building better diaspora networks and encouraging network membership, to lure back its diaspora. The Thai government has tried to address the issue by initiating programmes, such as the Reverse Brain Drain, in order to recruit the talents that the country needs.⁷ The Thai embassies abroad have also assisted in the formation of diaspora organisations.

Following a drop in exporting labour during the Covid-19 pandemic, Thailand has reinvigorated its work to increase the number of migrant workers leaving the country with the Ministry of Labour aiming to send 100,000 in 2022, some of whom will be on jobs secured by the Department of Education in collaboration with partner countries such as South Korea, Japan, Israel and Taiwan.

Achievements

The government of Thailand requires receiving countries to provide Thai migrants with proper rights in terms of wages, social welfare and other basic human rights. To do this, and to ensure support to Thai nationals living abroad, the Thai government has established several departments in different ministries, embassies and divisions.

Obstacles:

- Inadequate policy framework: For Thais living abroad, there are few official government programmes or initiatives encouraging emigrants' involvement in the economy of their home country.
- Data and coordination: While the government wishes to develop a more robust policy on diaspora engagement, there are inter-ministerial disagreements regarding the drafting of ministry regulations, and no practical guidelines for government officers regarding the diaspora. This is due to the result of the limited number of studies relating to diaspora issues and a lack of data.⁸ Research on the returning Thai diaspora is also relatively limited.

- Legal restrictions: Although the returning Thai diaspora identify themselves as Thai, speak and write the Thai language and maintain Thai cultural practices, they face discrimination upon return in terms of legal rights to own land and housing, for example. The children of returning diaspora also have difficulty finding places in higher education institutions.⁹
