Data disclaimer

As diaspora definitions vary widely, we have chosen to use comparable data on emigration as a proxy. This does not include all who consider themselves diaspora and is not necessarily aligned with national definitions of diaspora. Emigration data comes from UNDESA (2024) and remittances from the World Bank (2024).

2 In 2025, Cambodia's National Assembly amended its citizenship law, specifically Article 33, which prohibits depriving citizens of their nationality. The amendment now allows the government to revoke citizenship from nationals, naturalised citizens and dual citizens residing domestically or abroad if convicted of treason or collusion with foreign powers.

4 Whilst voting from abroad is legally allowed, in practice it has not yet been implemented, as a lack of funding prevents registration of voters overseas, or opening registration offices. <https://www.khmertimeskh.com/6674/nec-pressed-on-election-reforms/> or <https://www.phnompenhpost.com/national/group-calls-oversees-voting>

Overview of the policy and legislative framework

- 2003 ● Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between Thailand and Cambodia on Cooperation in the Employment of Workers⁵ calls for the legal and organised deployment of Cambodian workers to Thailand, with a bilateral administrative process that provides for an employment procedure for both return or repatriation workers.
- 2007 ● Prakas 012/2007⁶ created a labour migration taskforce to manage policy implementation. Later, sub-decree 68/2009 (2009)⁷ formalised reduction of passport costs to US$20 and expediting of passport issuance to within 20 days. Sub-Decree No. 190 (2011)⁸ acknowledged the impact of migration on development and strengthened the regulatory framework for managing labour migration.
- 2014 ● National Strategic Development Plan:⁹ The plan incorporates migration-related challenges and measures such as improving institutional capacity and co-ordination for migration-related policy implementation that will help enhance the protection of rights, health and safety of Cambodian overseas workers. It also created the role of labour attaché in Cambodian embassies and developed a National Employment Policy.
- 2017 ● Technical and Vocational Education and Training:¹⁰ The policy serves as a guide for the implementation and formulation of strategies for skills development and for better coordination among skills development stakeholders in Cambodia. This focus on skills shows the government's interest in improving the employability of Cambodian workers abroad.
- 2019 ● Policy on Labour Migration for Cambodia:^{11,12} The updated policy builds on the foundation of the previous labour migration policies (2010-2014 and 2015-2018) and aims to enhance the effectiveness of labour migration in Cambodia. The policy focuses on three main pillars: (1) strengthening the labour migration governance framework; (2) protection and promotion of the rights of migrant workers; and (3) harnessing labour migration to maximise social and economic development.¹³
- 2023 ● Cambodia signed two agreements with Malaysia on the recruitment, employment and repatriation of Cambodian migrant workers in Malaysia. The two countries agreed to promote cooperation in various sectors, including trade, agriculture, tourism, energy, education and industry.¹⁴
- 2025 ● In 2025, Cambodia signed its first labour cooperation agreement with Israel, which aims to facilitate labour mobility and promote employment opportunities for Cambodian workers in key sectors, such as agriculture and construction.

Migrant workers resource centres 2013

Migrant workers resource centres (MRCs) have been established in Cambodia to provide information, counselling and legal assistance to visitors and to conduct outreach to schools, training institutions, and communities. Such activities aim to reach potential migrant workers, their family members, and community leaders. Preliminary discussions have been held with the Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MOLVT) and International Labour Organisation about establishing an MRC in Phnom Penh to assist migrants prior to departure, and to respond to queries from local labour departments and MRCs around the country on legal issues, procedures, and complaints.

The Interrelations between Public Policies, Migration and Development (IPPM) project 2013 - 2017

The IPPMD project focused on understanding the link between migration, remittances and sectors such as agriculture and education. It aimed to identify policy gaps in Cambodia in harnessing their potential for national development and to provide policy recommendations. The research team worked with the Ministry of Interior, which provided information on country goals, data and policies. The post-project report argued that while the whole migration process (emigration, remittances, return migration) could contribute to Cambodia's development, it was not being fully optimised and suggested a range of recommendations, such as the implementation of a national financial education programme to boost the financial literacy of Cambodians so that more remittances could be channelled towards productive investments.

Cambodge, d'hier à aujourd'hui – Season of Cambodia 2018

This festival, organised by Cambodian-led NGO Cambodian Living Arts, offers a series of artistic events around Paris, to discover the revival of Cambodia's cultural scene almost 40 years after the fall of the Pol Pot regime in 1979. It also seeks to engage the Cambodian diaspora to build ties between the generation that fled the Khmer Rouge, and their children who do not know of that period.

The Employment Permit System (EPS) 2006

The Employment Permit System (EPS) is a partnership with South Korea to create demand for local labour. In 2014, this scheme had 745 trainees and 307 employees from Mongolia, Cambodia and Vietnam. The scheme also offers workers customised training for employment at a local Korean firm so that they can resettle back home securely after their overseas posting.

Integration of safe migration module into national vocational training curriculum 2023

In order to raise awareness on safe migration among TVET students, who are often prospective migrants seeking employment abroad, the Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MoLVT), with support from IOM, officially integrated a module on safe migration into the national TVET curriculum. A training of trainers (ToT) was conducted across 37 TVET institutes to ensure the effective and efficient delivery of the module.

My Journey Mobile App 2021

Through civil society partnerships, the mobile app was developed to provide access to essential, reliable and practical information on labour safety and rights, in the hopes of making Cambodian women's migration journeys safer. The app is user friendly and universally accessible, and delivers information through videos, animations, audio and dialogues. The development of the app draws upon the narratives and perspectives of Cambodian women migrant workers themselves, increasing its relevance.

Vocational and Technical Training Programme for Youth from Poor and Vulnerable Families 2024

The programme aims to enhance skills in 10 priority sectors for youth from poor and vulnerable families, as well as those vulnerable to unemployment and poverty, including returned migrant workers. As they are set as a second priority for the programme, returned migrant workers are eligible to attend the training for free but will not receive a monthly stipend. This programme is a part of Cambodia's Strategic Plan for Employment Development, Social Security and Vocational Training 2024-2028.

Job forums for returning migrant workers

The Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training organised about 600 job forums across the country in the end of 2025, in response to the influx of returning Cambodians following the border conflict with Thailand. The forums aimed to connect jobseekers with employment opportunities, learn about the National Social Security Fund (NSSF) and obtain free technical and professional skills training.

Khmer national identification cards

Prime Minister Hun Sen announced in May 2022 to members of the diaspora that the government will permit them to register for, and obtain, Khmer national identification to ease their ability to do business in Cambodia, enabling them to buy real estate or even to form a political party.

>> Observations

The "Observations" and "Obstacles" sections contain additional information on the context of diaspora engagement that does not fit directly into the other sections. They are based on a combination of literature review and comments from the authors. New information is incorporated during the annual updates. Readers are invited to verify the relevance of the information at the time of reading, as the context may have evolved.

Emigration has been a growing phenomenon for Cambodia, seeing a 160% increase in the number of Cambodians abroad between 2000 and 2015. The recent progress in mainstreaming migration, through various government initiatives such as the implementation of the LMP and sub-decree 190, reflects the recognition of the social and economic contribution of migration. This has encouraged thousands of Cambodians to go abroad to work legally every month, aided by a 2013 guideline to simplify the procedures required to emigrate, reduce recruitment fees and improve monitoring of recruitment agencies¹⁵

15 <https://www.khmertimeskh.com/61435/thousands-of-cambodians-going-to-work-abroad-every-month/>

In terms of diaspora engagement, the National Strategic Development Plan shows a gradual increase in government efforts to protect the rights, health and safety of Cambodians overseas through the labour attachés in Cambodian embassies. Key sectors of diaspora engagement include tourism and cultural preservation, humanitarian aid and skills transfer through medical expertise or education.

Obstacles

- Lack of resources: The Ministry of Labour and Vocational Training (MOLVT) has capacity limitations, which include lack of staff and resources, weak co-ordination between relevant ministries and across countries, and ineffective mechanisms for monitoring and supervising recruitment agencies and mechanisms to settle grievances.¹⁶ Local authorities require guidance on the new Sub-Decree and Prakas and their role in monitoring recruitment practices. The MOLVT should issue a notification to the authorities to present the law and its implications in simple and practical terms. Regular provincial- and district-level meetings should be held to bring together various departments and partners to enhance the provision of services in the community and the capacities of officials and village leaders.¹⁷
- Media landscape: Cambodian media is mostly controlled by the state and government power over digital spaces is set to increase with the country's planned National Internet Gateway. The fact that the diaspora is a relatively small part of Cambodian society that does not necessarily fit into a national-focused news agenda and it includes groups that have fled for fear of persecution means that the limited media space could have an effect on the ability for trust building between the government and its diaspora.
- Political division and transnational repression: There is political division in the diaspora, linked to its history, making government-led diaspora engagement initiatives challenging for certain groups. Moreover, the persistent political repression against Cambodian activists in exile challenges diaspora's participation in advocating for freedom of expression and democracy in Cambodia.
- Conflict with neighbouring countries: The territorial dispute between Cambodia and Thailand in 2025 led to the sudden return of 900,000 Cambodian workers.¹⁸ The arrival of a considerable share of the workforce placed considerable pressure on the domestic labour market and social services, as well as a drop in remittances. Without a comprehensive and consolidated diaspora strategy in place, Cambodia has been unable to effectively align the skills of its returning diaspora with the needs of the domestic job market.

International Labour Organisation (ILO) 1969

Cambodia has been a member of ILO since 1969. Since the early 1990s, the ILO has been an active partner in Cambodia's economic, social and democratic recovery, playing an important role in helping to restore livelihoods, generate sustainable employment, rebuild infrastructure and set-up and strengthen democratic institutions. Cambodia has ratified all eight of ILO's core conventions. The TRIANGLE in ASEAN programme is a part of the ILO's global efforts to promote fair migration. Through delivery of technical assistance and support to governments, social partners, civil society and regional bodies, TRIANGLE in ASEAN aims to create a set of policies, tools and services that enhance the contribution of labour migration to stable and inclusive growth and development. It involves ASEAN six countries, including Cambodia, and is funded by Australia and Canada.

- National institutions

Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation (MFAIC)

The MFAIC is in charge of distributing all relevant documents and regulations, facilitating legal labour migration, and managing and resolving disputes between workers and their employers in receiving countries via Cambodian embassies. For instance, during the Covid-19 period, officials at the MFAIC coordinated with the Malaysian government to facilitate the return of Cambodians who were stranded in Malaysia via a special charter flight.¹⁹
