National Diaspora Policy, Working Document 2020

The National Diaspora Policy addresses the Government of Jamaica's (GoJ) commitment to pursue diaspora initiatives that are beneficial to national development and the wellbeing of the diaspora community. Although still in draft, the policy's goal is that by 2030 there will be "transformative engagements and partnerships providing an enabling environment for the empowerment of the Jamaican Diaspora to realize their fullest potential...while optimizing contributions to national development." The working document highlights eight main goals, such as: increasing diaspora engagement in national development planning, recognizing diaspora networks, encouraging diaspora investment, promoting research of diaspora contributions to development, among others.

Overview of the policy and legislative framework

- 2009 ● Vision 2030 Jamaica National Development Plan aims at strengthening the involvement of the Jamaican diaspora in national development by establishing the Jamaica Diaspora Foundation under the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade. Additionally, the plan seeks to develop a strategy for engaging a wide audience on the island and in the diaspora community to promote media literacy.
- 2017 ● Jamaica's International Migration and Development Policy (IMDP). The White Paper states that an aim of the policy is to have modern mechanisms in place by 2030 to facilitate global technological advances in remittance transmissions and promote investment opportunities. This can improve accessibility to remittance sending for the diaspora community. The policy also calls for the extensive and continuous policy-relevant research training programmes for data and research on migration and development.

» Trends and achievements

Almost 38% of Jamaicans live abroad, the majority residing in the United States, United Kingdom, and Canada. However, citizens with official residency status abroad do not have the right to vote. The Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade (MFAFT) has made it a priority to develop boards and commissions that focus on their diaspora population; it has over 20 diplomatic missions and 400 Foreign Service officers.

There has been progress in policy initiatives to expand on inclusivity and development of the diaspora population, as well as to bridge relationships between diaspora youth populations and Jamaicans living on the island, such as the Global Jamaica Diaspora Council. In June 2019, the Foreign Affairs and Foreign Trade Minister, Senator the Hon. Kamina Johnson Smith, announced that the government is lobbying the support of Jamaicans living abroad for the creation of proposed Global Jamaica Diaspora and Global Jamaica Youth Councils. These councils would not only alleviate some of the responsibility of the Diaspora Advisory Board, but would offer more inclusivity throughout the diaspora population. The Global Jamaica Diaspora Council was established end of January 2020⁴. The Global Diaspora Youth Council was created in 2019 to sustain connections between young Jamaicans living abroad and the island⁵.

Remittances play a large economic factor for Jamaica, totalling approximately 16% of the country's GDP. Ultimately, the government encourages members of the diaspora to return home to work, raise families, invest, and retire.⁶ This can also be seen in the inviting citizenship regulations – allowing people with grandparents from Jamaica to apply for citizenship. Additionally, the Jamaican government offers incentives in order to help returning residents and deportees move back to Jamaica; this includes assistance on moving and importing expenses.⁷

Key areas the government focuses on for diaspora engagement are:

Diaspora Tourism: The Jamaican diaspora accounts for approximately 7% of all stopover visitors to the island. The Jamaican government has noted this significant percentage and plans on creating specific programmes that will target said diaspora population – specifically youth and young adults, hoping to enhance their relationship with the island.

Diaspora Philanthropy: Jamaicans abroad continue to make significant donations to the country's educational and health institutions. In 2017, over 9 million USD was donated by the Diaspora and Friends of Jamaica to Medical Missions, which offers free medical services to underserved populations in Jamaica.

Export of Jamaican Products: There has been a large demand from diaspora communities for Jamaican domestic products, helping the country increase their agricultural exports to the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom. Total exports grossed USD 554,952 in 2017, compared to USD 464,660 in 2016. The demand is typically for non-traditional exports like yams, sweet potatoes, papayas, pumpkins, etc. An increase in non-traditional exports helps the country financially while the demand for indigenous food products gradually increases.

Economic Assistance Through Remittances: Jamaica receives an average of USD 2.2 billion dollars annually in remittances, equating to approximately 16% of its GDP. The vast majority of remittances (90%) come from countries with the highest concentration of Jamaicans (Canada, UK, USA). A survey conducted by the Bank of Jamaica noted that roughly 85% of remittances are used to pay utility bills and for other basic expenses, proving to be very useful to the residents of Jamaica.

Communication network: The Jamaican Government plans to establish a singular communication network and platform in order to efficiently disseminate information to the Jamaican diaspora globally. Additionally, there are plans to improve data collection and research and build relationships with the younger generation.

Obstacles

Lack of economic opportunities: A main motivator of Jamaican migration is the search for better economic opportunities and family unification, resulting in historical outmigration from Jamaica to Canada, the UK and the United States.⁸

Lack of overseas voting mechanism: The process of voting outside of the country is neither clear, nor easily accessible. Consulates do not make voting abroad possible, but anyone registered to vote can travel back to Jamaica to do so. An option that may be impossible for many migrants.⁹
